MAY DAY: Heavy rain and threatened snow in Nevada City. Two and a half hours average travel time between Truckee and county seat, due to unseasonable snow. Suggested scene of May-pole dance: around the shiny pole in Fireman's hall.

But it was cold in Berlin, too, for which we may be thankful. Threatened invasion of West Berlin by Communist youth in a May day demonstration did not pan out. Our relief at the passing of another crisis is like postponing a needed trip to the dentist's office.

KITE FLYING: Jon wanted to fly a kite, persuaded Daddy to help him make one. Though it's been 30 years since Daddy flew a kite, he tried again. Made the kite alright, but it was a little heavy on one side. Daddy should have quit right there, having delivered the quota to save a reputation.

But Daddy had to fly the kite too. The hill slope was right but the breeze was irregular. No reports have come in from the neighbors who saw a long skinny guy galloping down the hillside, pulling a string to which a piece of wrapping paper and bright cloth was fastened. No dignity, probably no sense either, they thought. Now Jon has a badly battered kite to repair and Daddy has used up most of the liniment. Neither had the thrill of seeing their masterpiece soar into the blue up-yonder. Daddy's score: zero.

GOLDEN HIGHWAY: Millions of dollars in gold was hauled out of Timbuctoo and Rough and Ready down the winding road to Sacramento in the gold rush days a century back. The unimaginative designation for that trail is now Sign Route 20. Andy W. Rogers of Rough and Ready thinks it should properly be known as the Golden Highway.

Incidentally, Andy is cooking with an idea about a celebration to mark the 100th anniversary of the demise of the Independent Republic of Rough and Ready. It would fall on the Fourth of July, Andy claims.

His version is that the ill-starred republic was proclaimed locally in order to avoid U. S. mining taxes and to set up tariff walls or something so the miners could exclude some of the characters coming in to their diggings. All went well with the high-flyin' talk in the spring of 1850—until somebody proposed a big Fourth of July celebration. But they couldn't do that if they were a foreign nation. So, according to Jack McDowell of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, "they killed off their republic and came back into the fold of the Union."

Hasn't Andy heard that Nevada City will hold its biggest and best Fourth of July celebration this year? That we will also celebrate our Centennial? That a committee is hard at work packing four days with activities?

But this needn't be a competitive situation. It would be a fine gesture if a big caravan of local folks went down to Rough and Ready on July 4th and shot off a few fireworks. If there was a little embarrassment at the first patriotic celebration, there's no reason why there should be now, 100 years later.

SOPHOMORE DANCE

Nevada City high school sophomore class dance will be held in the school gymnasium tonight at 8 o'clock, according to an announcement by Ed Frantz, class adviser. David Mott and Pete Ray are in charge of the dance arrangements and Joe Fisher, class president, will be in charge. Kent Walker and his orchestra will furnish the music.

WRITS FILED BY TAVERN MEN TO SAVE MACHINES

Three writs of prohibition were filed this past week by Crofford W. Bridges, Grass Valley, attorney, on behalf of his clients, A. Tick, Francis C. Mertens and William and Charlotte Hess, tavern operators. The writs ask that District Attorney Vernon Stoll be restrained from destroying 11 slot machines seized by grand jury action Jan. 28.

Tick was proprietor of Tick's Place, Hills Flat. Mertens operates the Gold Nugget Inn and Mr. and Mrs. Hess operate the Duck Inn.

The machines are being held at Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins' office. Notice of intention to destroy the machines have been posted on the premises.

Operators of all three places were fined in justice courts subsequent to the raid.

The writs charge that action taken by the district attorney to destroy the machines constitutes an additional penalty for the crime; that the threatened action is judicial in nature; that a notice of destruction was not posted on the premises at time of seizure as required by county ordinance; and that the threatened action is unlawful.

QUEEN CONTEST FOR FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION STARTS

Walker also announced a new schedule for the service, leaving Marysville at 3 p.m. for Nevada City, and returning to the Yuba county seat at 4:40 p.m. on Sundays.

Week-day service schedules the bus to leave Marysville at 9:30 a.m. for Nevada City and leave Nevada City at 11 a.m. for the return trip.

The 1951 convention will be held in Santa Cruz.

SURVEY COUNTY JOBS, SALARIES GETS UNDERWAY

Survey of jobs and salaries of Nevada county employes began this week under the direction of John H. England, senior technician of the state personnel board. He is being assisted by Miss Guyla Runyan and Robert Fischer, All are from Sacramento. They explained the survey at Monday's session of the board of supervisors and attended by heads of county department.

The survey is designed to adjust inequalities existing between county offices and private industry. The survey is estimated to cost about $1,200.

In other actions the board of supervisors at regular session:

Accepted resignation of Keif D. Melberg, county welfare director, who is accepting a similar position at Hanford. His resignation is effective May 12. No action was taken on four applications for the position.

Accepted the resignation of W. L. Davies, trustee of Nevada cemetery district.

Appropriated $2,600 to the state division of forestry for fire protection of rural structures.

Rejected a proposition by the state director of finance offering to sub-let the county welfare office on Commercial street.

Approved awarding of printing of a 32-page booklet promoting Nevada county, to be published by the Grass Valley Union. Cost was estimated at $1,500.

Considered curtailing expenses of the welfare department by cutting personnel from the 14 now employed.

Took under advisement a request by W. D. Valdon, president of Nevada county 4-H council, that the county secure services of a part time farm advisor to keep abreast of the growing club activities in the county.

Passed a resolution applying for $12,500 chapter 20 funds to match county monies for repair of military damage and improvements on McCourtney road.

Heard County Recorder John E. Nettell request a photostat machine that would cost approximately $6,000.

PG&E CUTS GAS RATE IN NEVADA COUNTY

New lower gas rates will bring about a saving of $13,000 a year to users of Pacific Gas and Electric piped gas in Nevada City and Grass Valley, according to an announcement by the company.

The new lower rates for piped gas became effective on all regular meter readings taken on and after Monday.

"The new lower rates come as a result of economies effected in transporation cost of fuel plus a reduction in the refinery price of propane liquid gas," Larry Farrell, district manager of the company, said. "In line with our long established policy, we are passing along these savings and economies to our customers."

Liquid propane is shipped by truck from the field to the plant and there processed and regulated for delivery under pressure into the distribution pipes that serve Nevada City and Grass Valley. It has a higher heat content than the manufactured gas formerly supplied from the local system.

MUSEUM OPEN SUNDAY

Nevada County Historical Society museum will open the summer season this Sunday. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Later in the summer the museum plans to be open Saturdays.

WINTER RETURN MARS MAY AND EARLY GARDENS

Two inches of snow blanketed Nevada City Tuesday as the frosty breath of winter nipped spring buds and banished light shirts which made their appearance in mid-April.

It was the first unseasonal fall of snow in May in Nevada City since 1942 when snow fell the night of May 9-10 in sufficient quantity to damage trees.

Frost was recorded by Fred Bush, weather observer, Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Thursday mornings. The last two days minimum mercury readings were below the freezing point.

Steady rain which started Monday and continued through Wednesday added three and one-third inches of precipitation to the season's record. The season total of rainfall since last July 1 is 50.59 inches, about six inches above the mark of this date last year and slightly above the normal.

Bush's temperature record for the week is as follows:

	Max.	Min.
April 28	70	35
April 29	65	32
April 30	68	34
May 1	69	36
May 2	46	36

May 4	45	30

SIERRA CITY MAN IS KILLED IN HIGHWAY CRASH SATURDAY

Mark Reinhard Smith, 26, Sierra City, was instantly killed, and Eric Ostrom, 46, Sierra City, sustained minor injuries in an automobile accident Saturday at 10:40 p.m., six miles east of Downieville.

The accident occurred when Smith attempted to pass a car driven by Mrs. Valetta Mason, also of Sierra City. Smith's car struck a rock wall and rolled over twice. According to the highway patrol Smith was traveling at excessive speed when the accident occurred. Both cars were traveling east on highway 49.

Funeral services were held at Sierra City Wednesday afternoon and interment was in Sierra City cemetery.

25-YEAR RETIREMENT PLAN ON BOND ISSUE

Tentative retirement schedule of 25 years for Nevada City's $155,000 bond issue was set up at Monday's night informal session of the city council at city hall. Final action in the form of a resolution was to have been taken at last night's regular May meeting of the council, but with The Nugget going to press before the meeting started we are unable to carry the story.

The bonds were tentatively scheduled to retire at the rate of $5,000 per year with the exception of six years when $10,000 would be retired.

The schedule is based on a 60 cents tax rate with interest estimated at about 2½ percent.

To offset the increase in tax rate the fire tax may be reduced from 20 cents to 10 cents and a similar decrease in the library tax. One policeman and one or two street employes may be eliminated also.

LIQUOR CASE REFERRED TO STATE BOARD OFFICE

ONE-DAY CAMPAIGN ON SATURDAY, MAY 13 TO CLEAN-UP COUNTY

A county-wide "clean-up" campaign has been set for Saturday, May 13, by the Nevada County conservation council, following approval Tuesday by the board of supervisors of purchase of a section of land on the American Ranch hill, west of Grass Valley as a public dumping grounds.

A public dump already exists on Lost Hill near Nevada City.

Western Nevada county has been sectionalized and crews and equipment assigned. Crews will concentrate on the major county roads, where the accumulation of trash is greatest.

Crews will methodically clean each section. Burnable trash will be destroyed on the spot. Such items as glass, tin cans and garbage will be taken to the dump grounds and bulldozed under.

Crews will meet at the Nevada irrigation district truck yard at 8:30 a.m. and the work day will continue until 1 p.m. Volunteer, individuals or groups, are urged to contribute man hours or vehicles.

Following clean-up signs requesting cooperation against the wide-spread dumping will be located on county roads.

Trucks have been volunteered by the NID, state division of forestry, supervisors, and several individuals.

Men and tools will be provided by the state division of highways.

Residents of the county are urged to cooperate in the campaign by cleaning up yards, vacant lots and streets.

All bids on the first call were rejected recently on the grounds they were too high.

FIVE HIGHWAY PROJECTS ASKED BY STATE GROUP

Five Nevada county highway projects have been recommended to the highway division of the department of public works for inclusion in the construction budget starting July 1, 1951, by the Sacramento valley council of the California state chamber of commerce, it was revealed this week.

The projects are:

Realignment and reconstruction of highway 20 between Nevada City and Grass Valley. This is a contemplated four-lane freeway.

Grade and surface highway 20 for eight miles west from Grass Valley.

Realign and bridge on highway 49 from Bear river bridge to four miles south of Rattlesnake creek bridge.

Grade and surface highway 49 from North San Juan eight miles south.

Realign and reconstruct highway 89 from Hobart Mills to Sierra county line.

Nevada county was omitted in the 1950-51 budget of the highway division.

G. T. McCoy, state highway engineer, in a recent letter, stated Nevada county was allotted an estimate of $916,000 for highway construction for a five-year period from July 1, 1947 to June 30, 1952, and in the three-year period ending June 30, 1950, the division of highways will have expended $969,000 for construction of state highways in Nevada county, exceeding the estimated allotment.

In addition, McCoy said, Nevada county this year will probably see start of construction of the Washington road estimated to cost $216,033 and will utilize almost all the county's allocation of federal aid secondary and state matching funds.

Highway projects recommended for nearby counties include:

Sierra county: highway 49, Depot Hill, realignment and reconstruction, one mile; and grade and surface 13 miles east from Bassetts toward Yuba pass summit.

Placer county: four-lane divided project on U. S. highway 40 from Sacramento county line to Roseville, Newcastle to Auburn, and Applegate to Gold Run. Grade and surface highway 49 from DeWitt state hospital to the Nevada county line.

Yuba county: Grade and widen portions of highway 20 at Browns Valley, east of Marysville.

A BOOST TO RECREATION

The week's largest bouquet and loudest salute goes to the Nevada Irrigation District as it opens negotiations for the sale or lease of a piece of NID property in the Jackson Lake country high in the Sierras.

If a deal is made a group of bay area businessmen and sportsmen will develop the area into a recreational playground. The development will include the construction of a group of summer homes and the leveling of an air strip for weekend plane commuters.

The NID has been subjected to much harsh criticism in recent months but it would seem that in this new proposed move the critics should give forth with loud praise.

Closing of the deal would mean a piece of cash money to relieve the district's hard pressed coffers and a move toward encouraging recreational development—Nevada county's greatest potential industry.—at.

SURPLUS FOOD FOR STARVING CHINESE . . .

The news dispatches contain the story that some 40 million Chinese will starve before another harvest. In the light of this fact it would seem criminal to destroy any food surpluses in this country. Some way should be found to get our surplus potatoes and eggs and meat to them. If the government has no funds for this purpose a popular subscription should be taken up. A local man believes that the fact that we do have large surpluses at the present time imposes an obligation upon us to see to it that those in need get our surplus food. We are dependent on what we raise from year to year, he says. Suppose that nature or some sort of failure would deprive us of a crop or two? We should remember that some place it has been said we are our brother's keeper. We would have a hard job explaining to Saint Peter why we failed, out of our abundance, to feed a starving brother. "This," he says, "is practical Christianity and really there is no escape from it.—Colfax Record.

THE AMERICAN FUTURE

The trend of government in our United States is toward government by decree, and bureaucratic rulings.

It points almost inevitably to the day when we may awaken to find the following proclamation by a dictatorship operating under the guise of a welfare state:

"To the People of the United States:

"WHEREAS You have shown by your actions that you no longer care to assume the responsibility of free government, and

"WHEREAS You have failed to perform even the smallest duty of citizenship of your own free will, and

"WHEREAS Your neglect has brought this nation to a dire condition of both economic and political confusion, and

"WHEREAS the present system of law and order has broken down and the Constitution of the United States is no longer recognized or obeyed by the majority.

"THEREFORE I now proclaim a condition of military law in effect for all citizens. From this time forth all public statements of press or radio must first be cleared through the Department of Intelligence. There will be no movement across state borders without permission. All citizens will be issued an identification card which they must carry on their persons at all times. Political parties are declared disbanded and no public gatherings may be held at any time without permission from proper authorities. Army headquarters will be established in every county with sufficient personnel to maintain order. All firearms must be turned into the nearest headquarters by noon tomorrow. Furthermore, it is now declared illegal to criticize government policies at any time. Violation of any of these laws will bring severe punishment."

LEADING THE FIELD

Advertisers have given American newspapers another accolade for effectiveness by boosting the amount spent on newspaper ads to more than $445 million last year. This was an increase of 14.3 percent over 1948.

Newspapers thus outstripped magazine advertising by several million dollars and outran radio and television by $70 million. This is further evidence that newspaper advertising, once believed to be headed for the skids because of increasing competition, is not only holding its own but is actually taking the play away from its rivals.

This should not be surprising since the newspaper, especially in the smaller communities, can do a job for advertisers which no other medium can possibly do. It is the only medium which most small advertisers can afford. It would appear that, like the horseless carriage, newspaper advertising is here to stay.

OUR CONGRESSMAN REPORTS:

By CLAIR ENGLE

Indian Fund Bill Approved

The senate this week passed a measure which I introduced providing for a per capita payment of $150 from funds in the Treasury of the U. S. to the credit of the Indians of California. The California Indians now have on deposit in the federal treasury almost $6,000,000. This sum constitutes a judgment plus interest awarded the California Indians by the U. S. court of claims under old treaty rights. A maximum of 27,500 Indians will receive payments under the bill, totaling something like $4,000,000. The balance will be kept in the treasury for future disposition by congress, perhaps as a revolving fund for the benefit of the California Indians. However, this measure brings to fruition the long effort of the Indians of California extending back more than a quarter of a century to realize something substantial on their claims against the federal government. Distribution of this money is to be made by the secretary of the interior through the bureau of Indian affairs. The payment authorized is not from money to be raised from taxes but from the trust fund now on deposit in the U. S. treasury belonging to the Indians of California, but for which no legislation has heretofore been enacted providing for its distribution.

New Mining Measure

This week, with several of my colleagues as co-authors, I reintroduced a measure providing for government assistance in the conservation of and exploration for critical and strategic minerals and metals. This measure is substantially the same as the measure which not long ago was defeated on the floor of the house. However, a good many members who voted against the bill or who were not present have indicated that they would like to have a chance to vote on it again. It will be recalled that this measure was defeated by less than twenty votes, and a change of only a few votes would insure its successful consideration. Since the defeat of the earlier bill before the house, the critical condition of the domestic mining industry has become even more important.—Editor's note: The bill was approved Monday by the house public lands committee.

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder if the stars of night,
In their serene, celestial height,
Look down upon this world of ours,
Made radiant with fair spring flowers,
And then in unison declare
"Why, that's a star we see down there!"

If there are any high powered telescopes trained upon us by the denizens of Mars or other orbs of light, they might well believe that the old world had indeed become a star. Flowers make bright the landscapes north, south, east and west, the fields are agleam with gold, brightness and beauty are the order of the day.

Spring is in full possession now, especially in our California and this is how I know; the lovers of things beautiful dash madly to and fro. Also, so many of the flower gathering fraternity are grabbers and yankers; breakers down and pullers up. They get their flowers, but at what a cost! They enter many a fair nook which nature has arrayed in all the loveliness of spring, only to leave it a devastated ruin. Shrubs have been ruthlessly broken down and stripped of every available blossom, small flowers have been yanked up by the roots or bulbs—the place is a shambles.

Don't, I beg of you, be a wrecker. Gather wild flowers if you must, but gather them decently and in order. The beauty spot you destroy by the wanton culling of its flowers, ferns and shrubs may never look the same again; it will take several seasons, for instance, for nature to replace the long branches you have torn from dogwood and red bud shrubs, little bulbs will never produce their fragile flowers again, and the plants you have torn up by their tenuous roots are lost to the world of beauty forever.

There are rules and regulations regarding the culling of wild flowers in California; laws have been passed with penalties for infraction attached. You might be surprised if you took the trouble to gather information on that score; therefore be careful. You are, of course, kind to animals; well, then, be kind to flowers too. Walk gently through the lovely fragile things which come to brighten the earth at this time of the year; be like the fairies of whom it is reported, "fairies never harm the flowers, it simply isn't done."

In a letter written to me by a dear friend, who in her more youthful days spent several years in Russia, I find this description of a Russian formal dinner:

"The dinner was a most elaborate affair I have ever attended. Such beautiful silver, linen and china! We were seated at 8 o'clock and served various kinds of cold appetizers with wine until 10 o'clock. Then a turkey and all the trimmings, followed by a frozen pudding 36 inches high, and during the meal, we had five different wines, including vodka. The lady of the home spoke some English and was indeed a most gracious hostess.

"If a Russian meets you a dozen times a day, he clicks his heels and kisses your hand. The Russians are ultra polite and eating is one of their most cherished pastimes. They want to feed you every time they meet you, or pour tea for your benefit.

"The young girls are lovely, dress well and dance all the time. We did so admire their music and their singing. The Russians are inordinately fond of music and their execution is beyond criticism."

Just a glimpse of the Russia that used to be and perhaps a glimpse into the soul of Russia that is at the present time asleep.

RICHARD NIXON TO SPEAK IN G. V. MONDAY, 3 P. M.

An opportunity for Nevada City voters to meet Congressman Richard M. Nixon in person will be offered Monday when Nixon resumes his campaign for U. S. senator in northern California, with a whirlwind barnstorming tour.

The candidate will meet the public in the service club room of the Bret Harte Inn in Grass Valley between 3 p.m. and 4:30 p.m., according to Elton F. Williams, chairman of the Nevada county Republican central committee, and Nevada county campaign chairman for Nixon.

The candidate will arrive from Olivehurst, Marysville and Yuba City to continue his two-months station-wagon trip through the state.

Congressman Richard M. Nixon

Williams declared that Nixon hopes to carry his straight-from-the-shoulder messages directly to the people wherever he can find a listener. He'll speak mostly from the station-wagon, on street corners, in mines, on farms, in grocery stores and barbershops.

Nixon will be accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Pat Nixon, who will hand out souvenir Nixon thimbles to women in his audiences.

Williams also announced that a breakfast meeting will be held Friday, May 19, at 8 a.m. in the dining room of the Bret Harte Inn, with Edward S. Shattuck, Republican candidate for attorney general, as guest of honor.

EDITOR KINYON IS HONORED BY HISTORY GROUP

Edmund G. Kinyon, editor emeritus of the Grass Valley Union, was guest of honor at a community dinner of the Nevada County Historical Society held Monday evening at the Wesley hall in Grass Valley.

Mrs. Isabel Hefelfinger, president of the group, presided. Elmer Stevens was program chairman and introduced the guests.

Dean Rockwell Hunt, member of the faculty of College of the Pacific, Stockton, and considered dean of California historians, was the principal speaker at the dinner meeting. Dr. Hunt told of early day journalists of California, calling them the recorders of history of the gold rush days.

A complimentary telegram for Kinyon arrived during the meeting from Earl Warren, governor, of California. Other congratulatory messages were read from W. L. Prisk, Long Beach, and a former publisher of the Union; Joseph Knowland, publisher of the Oakland Tribune; Leon Witsell, retired San Francisco attorney, and Masonic Grand Lodge historian; and Goodwin Knight, lieutenant governor.

Robert Ingram and Earl Caddy, co-publishers of the Union, spoke briefly, Caddy relating his earliest impressions as a cub reporter for Kinyon. Other county newsmen attending were Henry Argall, Axel Gravender and W. B. Wright of the Union staff, and Alvin S. Trivelpiece, Sacramento Bee correspondent for Nevada county.

Rev. Jesse Rudkin, former pastor of the Grass Valley Methodist church, and assistant dean of the College of the Pacific, who accompanied Hunt, spoke briefly in praise of the veteran Nevada county editor.

Miss Dorothy Waggoner, Nevada City, who took dictation for many years from Kinyon, was a guest of the historical society.

Kent Walker and his orchestra provided a portion of the entertainment. The band consists of Dick Penrose, Bruce Walker, Harry Valdon, John Berryman and Larry Parsons, students of Nevada City and Grass Valley high schools.

Glenda Moore, accompanied by Dick Hales sang "Through the Years," and "My Wonderful One."

Berryman presented a piano solo.

Don Prisk sang "Where My Caravan Has Rested" and "I Passed by Your Window," with Mrs. Camille Cornish accompanying him at the piano.

George W. Hallock, Grass Valley, trustee of the historical society, president of the California Hydraulic Mining association, and friend of many years of Kinyon, presented the grand old journalist with a gift from the society.

Ladies of the Methodist church served the dinner.

SON OF EX-RESIDENT KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Harley Dennis, 42, Decoto, was instantly killed Saturday morning when the jeep he was driving was forced off a mountainous road near Decoto, enroute to a fishing location. Two companions with him were seriously injured.

He is the son of Mrs. Clara Dennis, Decoto, who was born and raised in Nevada City. Also surviving are a brother, Byron Dennis, Salinas; and a sister, Mrs. Della Sweeney, Monterey.

HORSEMEN OF COUNTY COMBINE GROUPS TO FORM RIDING UNIT

Horsemen and members of the Nevada County Rangers, Gold Trail Riders, Posse-Ettes and several members of the Saddle Tramps have combined memberships into a new riding group, to be named the Nevada County Horsemen.

Jerry Simpson was elected the first president of the organization.

Others officers named were Guy Robinson, first vice president; Carl J. Tobiassen, second vice president; Mrs. Doris Delleque, secretary; and Mrs. Mildred Rohde, treasurer.

Sunday the group rode to Forest Springs Farm Center where a basket social was enjoyed. The women bid for the baskets instead of the men.

Simpson estimated there will be more than 100 members of the group. New uniforms are being planned.

The group will participate in the Wheatland rodeo Sunday and is also making plans to participate in the Fourth of July Centennial celebration.

ARRAIGNMENT HELD IN BIZARRE TRUCKEE CASE

Mrs. Leota Shroyer, Chilcoot, is recovering in a Portola hospital from what authorities describe as a severe beating. She has a fractured jaw and numerous bruises on her body. She told Truckee Constable N. F. Dolley that she and Mrs. Billie Townsend, Lovelock, Nev., and Mrs. Patricia O'Brien, Portola, were en route to Truckee from Portola and became involved in an argument.

Mrs. Shroyer stated her companions beat her, stripped her of some of her clothes, attempted to burn her body and left her near the Truckee cemetery when she feigned death.

Mrs. O'Brien was arrested in Truckee and arraigned Monday on charges of assault and battery and grand theft. Mrs. Townsend was arrested in Lovelock and is awaiting extradition.

Dolley reported both women admitted fighting but denied they were the aggressors. They said Mrs. Shroyer started fighting following an argument over a male friend.

Clayre Lipman Takes BPWC President's Office at Dinner

The banquet room of the National hotel was the setting for the installation of 1950 officers of the Nevada City Business and Professional Women's club, at a dinner meeting Thursday evening of last week.

Mrs. Clayre Lipman was installed president.

Mrs. Elizabeth Leiter, first vice president, was too ill to attend the installation program.

Other officers installed were Mrs. Wanda Lageson, second vice president; Mrs. Georgina O'Connor, third vice president; Miss Frances Mason, secretary; Mrs. Thelma Butz, treasurer.

The table was decorated in lavender lilacs and white candles. Match box favors were made by Mrs. Ida Mae Foote.

Installation was conducted by candlelight and the incoming officers were impressive on a dais covered with bouquets of lilacs. As each incoming officer received her charge she handed one of these bouquets to the new president.

Past President Adelaide Reilly received a string of pearls and earrings to match from the club members. This gifts was hidden in the bottom of a basket made of pansies. The outgoing officers remembered her with a bottle of luxurious perfume.

Mrs. Reilly presented each of her outgoing officers with a sterling silver grove clip and chairmen were remembered with gifts.

The membership and guest book done in finger painting by Mrs. Lipman was passed around to be admired.

Mrs. Kent Walker was speaker at the meeting at which the Nevada City teachers were invited guests. Mrs. Walker gave an interesting talk about the relations between teachers and their pupils and parents with the suggestion that the teachers were more than just friends, as they had a share in the molding of children.

Mrs. Gertrude Esterly brought greetings from Grass Valley.

Community singing was part of the evening's program. Mrs. Genevieve Elliott, accompanied by Mrs. Mae Raddue, sang "Jeanine, I Dream of Lilac Time," but she changed the wording to "Clayre, We Dream of Lilac Time."

"Just a Song at Twilight" was changed to "Just a Year of Pleasure." The pin of office was presented to Mrs. Lipman to the song, "Always," with the wording changed to "we will be serving you, always."

Mrs. Vada Merkee made an announcement of a dinner that was held Tuesday evening at Grass Valley. The past presidents of the Grass Valley Business and Professional Women's club were to have installation of officers with a guest speaker whose topic was "Air Careers for Girls."

The Tuesday meeting will be a forum meeting, with the May dinner meeting to be followed by a Mother's night program.

"UNFORTUNATE SAMMY" HAD ALL KINDS OF LUCK BUT IT WAS ALL BAD

He had grown old and bent and ill tempered and nobody cared for him.

With a rocker he made enough to feed and clothe himself and he cared for nothing else. Old friends had died or departed and he was left alone on Boston bar, ten miles above Smartsville on the Yuba river. Only the echoes, the memories, the wash of the river and mournful sighing of the pines kept him company. Death was his last visitor at the old cabin on the shore of the river.

Several weeks went by before a party of hunters came upon the cabin and found it in a sad state. The roof was overgrown with weeds and full of holes, the chimney had fallen. And on the step of the cabin was the old pioneer, his body mutilated by coyotes.

The hunters gathered him up, placed his remains in a quickly fashioned box and buried him in one of his prospect holes. The unmarked grave and crumbling cabin have long since disappeared.

Such in 1883 was the end of Samuel Goheen, "Unfortunate Sammy," or "Father Sammy," as he was known to his gold rush colleagues. Sammy became noted for his bad luck to such a point that he was rarely able to join any of the companies that hunted gold. Others about him made fortunes and Sammy made only a bare living. He became a laughing stock—a type of bad luck and an object of pity.

A backwoods man from Wisconsin, Sammy Goheen though ugly was tall and strong and agile as a cat, of quick mind and utterly fearless. These traits quickly made him looked to for judgment and his quick rough way of decision won him the occasionally used name of "Father."

Goheen came to Nevada county with the 49ers and by 1852 had a claim on the Yuba not far from the Boston bar where he lived out his life. The camp appeared to be a rich one and for once good luck seemed to have reached Sammy and he was permitted to associate with a company.

But fate stepped in. Nearby a group of Negroes had workings on a place known as Nigger bar and the sons of Africa had stolen the wife of a Digger Indian chief from a tribe that was located in the area now traversed by the road between North San Juan and Marysville.

The Negroes were well armed so the Indians sent a messenger to the camp of the whites at Boston bar demanding the miners restore the woman at once or suffer death. The command was laughed at and the messenger was told "go to the niggers, they have your squaw."

The Indians looked upon the white and Negro as one class—and interlopers—and demanded that if the whites did not have the squaw to go to the Negroes, take the woman from them and return her to the tribe. This method of releasing her drew only laughter from the miners.

A few days later the camp was awakened by war-painted Diggers, loosing arrows into the cabins and tents. The miners took refuge in their buildings and behind rocks but three were killed in the battle.

Gehoon was away at the time hunting and returned down the opposite side of the canyon to witness the fight. Goheen placed himself in a well protected spot that commanded the field of battle and with his rifle began to wreak havoc among the attackers.

The chief of the Diggers, possessed of one of the few guns the Indians had, made an attempt to kill Sammy and "Unfortunate" promptly killed the chief when he foolhardily sprang into view and fired at the white man. The killing of the chief took all the fight from the Indians, and they retired with the body of their chief to their camp, where they kindled several huge fires to drive away the evil spirit that had slain the chief.

The badly stoved miners figured the Indians would be back and finally decided to send a messenger to the Indians asking them not to attack until the miners could have a chance to go to the Negroes and attempt to negotiate with them for the return of the squaw. Like the fabled mice that planned to bell the cat the question of who arose.

You guessed it—Sammy Goheen.

"Unfortunate Sammy's" appearance in the Digger camp was tumultuous. He was seized and bound, but after he was given a chance to explain his errand he was released and sent back to the mining camp—on condition the miners would have the woman returned in one day and the Indians promised to help.

Goheen and the woman's brother found her tied to a tree near where the Oregon House was located. She was nearly dead from hunger and brutal treatment she had received from the Negroes.

The miners drifted away but "Unfortunate" remained on the shores of the Yuba searching the fortune that never came.

Once he thought he had it. Some Indians claimed to have found a rich location, and they sold about $7,000 worth of gold to Simon French, who operated Anthony House. The hotel man told his friends about the incident but only the Indians knew where the gold was to be found. Goheen was the first to find the place but while carrying a pan of dirt down the mountain side he fell and broke his leg. When it healed, the other miners had worked out the claim.

Included in the citations comprising the sermon are the following:

The Bible: "And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground. And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul" (Genesis 1:31; 2:6-7).

"Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In the Science of Genesis we read that He saw everything which He had made, 'and, behold, it was very good.' . . . The reader will naturally ask if there is nothing more about creation in the book of Genesis. Indeed there is, but the continued account is mortal and material. The second chapter of Genesis contains a statement of this material view of God and the universe, a statement which is the exact opposite of scientific truth as before recorded. The history of error or matter, if veritable, would set aside the omnipotence of Spirit; but it is the false history in contradistinction to the true" (p. 525, 521).

BIBLE COMMENT
FOR MAY 7

Hebrew Prophets Struck at Roots Of Social Evil

THE one thing that must be firmly grasped for an understanding of the Hebrew prophets is that their outlook and their messages were social. They struck at the roots of personal sin, but they dealt also with the false values and standards, and the social evils and injustices, which the evil in personal life had established into social wrongs.

There is much confusion of thought about this on the part of many sincere people, who ought to have a clearer vision. They resent what is often called "the Social Gospel," but how could there be any gospel worthy the name, least of all the Gospel of Christ, that is not social?

No sensible person, of course, would want to see pulpits made places of shallow, ill-informed, and irresponsible propagandism, as they have sometimes been made, but the pattern of the prophecies is clear.

Amos and Hosea condemned the cruelty and violence that they saw. They denounced the disregard of God's law, and the selling of the righteous for silver, and the poor for a pair of shoes (Amos 2:6). They condemned the sexual laxity, and the wine guzzling, the sins so rife in much of modern society, but above all they attacked the perversion of religion itself, the formalism and corruption at the very roots of what ought to have been the humbling and saving forces of society.

The one thing to be noted is that these evils and the corruption of religion were in a time of great outward prosperity. Hosea points out (Hosea 10:1) that it was according to "the multitude of fruit" that the people had increased the altars, and according to the goodness of the land they had increased the idolatrous images.

Economic prosperity is not always an indication of social health. It is righteousness, and righteousness alone, that exalts a nation, and welfare is not welfare where goodness is lacking.

SCOUT LEADER IS PRESENTED AT BREE DAM CAMP

Del Raby, who will serve the Nevada and Sierra counties district as field scout executive, was presented to over 175 scouts and scouters from the district who participated in the 1950 Boy Scout Camporette Saturday and Sunday at Bree's Dam near La Barr Meadows. Participating in the camporette were troops 24 of Nevada City and 15 of Gold Flat.

The camporette was a camping demonstration, with the troops preparing for the annual council camporee of Tahoe area, scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, May 20 and 21, at Rock Creek Dam, near Auburn.

The demonstration displayed camping knowledge and skills on a patrol basis, with each patrol operating against a fixed standard of proficiency.

Raby assisted Phil Crenshaw, Grass Valley, camping and activities chairman of the Grass Valley district, in conducting the camporette.

Troop 24 under Scoutmaster Ernest Chaney was accompanied by Ted Ness and Howard Smith.

Dow Alexander is scoutmaster of Gold Flat Troop 15.

Other troops and leaders present included Grass Valley Troop 4, Sam Partridge, scoutmaster, and Frank Prigley and Ike Harris, assistants; Grass Valley Troop 22, Scoutmaster Bob Kerr, and Assistant Warren Smith; Grass Valley Troop 32 led by Sam Medlyn and assisted by Dorel Jensen; Grass Valley Troop 35 and Carrol Rogers, scoutmaster. Troop 33 of North San Juan was represented under the leadership of Troop 32.

Explorer Post 4, Grass Valley, under Advisor Al Neep, offered their service to the camp as aides.

Activities included demonstrations of scouting skills, with each patrol competing for first, second and third places. Troop 15 won tent pitching and a blindfolded compass relay.

Sunday morning an all Protestant scout service was conducted on the camp grounds by Rev. W. W. Turner, Grass Valley Congregational church, and E. J. Beckman, chairman of the Christian businessmen's committee of Nevada county.

Scouts of Catholic faith attended mass in Grass Valley under supervision of Chaney.

Harry Hyatt, soil conservation service, conducted a training trip for several of the older scouts and explorers interested in the conservation merit badge.

Saturday evening featured a campfire program during which the scouts presented skits, took part in contests, heard campfire stories and sang. Raymond Ewan, scout executive, introduced Raby to the group during the Saturday night campfire program.

SCOUTERS PRESENT TRAINING REPORTS

Scouters of the Sierra Nevada district of the Tahoe area council of Boy Scouts gave reports of Scout training and activities at a meeting of the district committee here Thursday evening of last week.

Howard Smith, district camping chairman; Lloyd Geist, leadership training chairman; G. L. Lawlor, advancement chairman; Frank McGinnis, organization and extension; Guerdon Ellis, finance chairman; and Rev. Max I. Christensen, church relationships gave reports of their committees' activities.

Clarence Martz reported on the progress of reorganization of the Native Sons of the Golden West sponsored Troop 6.

I. C. Bell, chairman of the dynamite box derby to be held during the Fourth of July Centennial celebration, spoke briefly on the event.

Dr. Jerome Frey presided at the meeting.

Others attending were Douglas Buckbee and Charles Hamman of Troop 33, North San Juan; and Raymond J. Ewan, Auburn, Tahoe council scout executive.

CORNISH WRESTLING EXHIBITIONS PLANNED FOR FOURTH OF JULY

Cornish wrestling—a sociable name for mayhem—and a leading sport of the gold rush days here will be revived in exhibition bouts during the Fourth of July celebration, according to Ray Spickelmier, chairman, and Al Trivelpiece, publicity director.

Elton Tobiassen, who made a name for himself in college boxing while a student at the University of California Davis campus, will be chairman of the Cornish wrestling.

A report of one of the wrestling bouts held in You Bet in the fifties tells of one wrestler looking at the earthen floor of the ring and discovering the gouged out eye of his opponent.

Tobiassen promises the exhibition will have a minimum of bloodshed.

WATER CONSERVATION A MAJOR GOAL OF HYDRAULIC GROUP

Construction of many small dams high on the tributaries of the rivers of the district high enough to be useful to miners and mountain agricultural interests is one of the major aims of the California Hydraulic Mining association, according to the annual report of Floyd T. Wilmuth, secretary.

Wilmuth's report stated the hydraulickers have been active in problems of water storage and use, return to the gold standard, pollution and turbidity, and the mineral resources of superior California.

At present the CHMA, Wilmuth reported, is conducting an educational campaign about the water development programs that can be instituted in this area.

The CHMA favors construction of the high elevation dams over the current plan of construction of large low-elevation dams on major streams such as the Folsom project.

The CHMA favors construction of low-level dams subsequent to the high elevation dams. The latter dams will protect counties of origin.

With principal membership of the CHMA composed of gold miners, the organization feels any readjustment in the price of gold will again make gold mining profitable, and solve many federal government financial ills.

With a major goal effected by creation of a water pollution commission the CHMA will strive for a favorable legal definition of pollution and turbidity, according to Wilmuth's report.

Other activities of interest to the CHMA included construction of a new road to the North Fork dam and reappointment of President George W. Hallock, Grass Valley, to the state mining board.

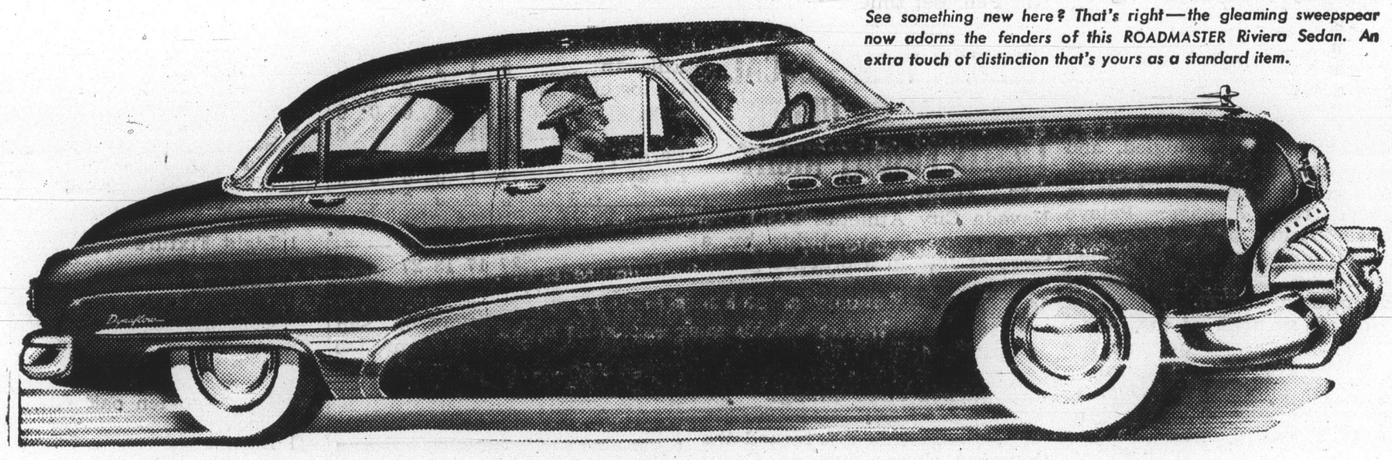
BRIGHT NEW TOUCH TO A BIG BOLD BEAUTY

See something new here? That's right—the gleaming sweepspear now adorns the fenders of this ROADMASTER Riviera Sedan. An extra touch of distinction that's yours as a standard item.



What's the secret of the "UNRUFFLED" RIDE?

SOME car makers say springs make the ride—and so we give every Buick four of the soft, gentle coil springs practically all cars use on front wheels only.

Some say the drive is important—how power is transmitted to the rear wheels.

We agree—and use a torque-tube drive, that takes up all the thrust, freeing rear springs of driving pulsation.

Some stress tires—so you'll find low-pressure casings on every Buick, mounted on our own kind of Safety-Ride rims. Some play up shock absorbers—we make ours fast, soft and sure in action, to wash out all "after-bounce."

Then there are frames—and car weight—and engine mountings, which on Buick are a very special kind used nowhere else.

They're all important—yet the plain truth is no one of these things—or two or three—gives a ride you can truly call "unruffled."

We feel it takes all of them—springs, tires, shock absorbers, drive, engine mountings—carefully and precisely brought into balance with each other.

You can see why we think so in any Buick—SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER.

You can feel it on cobblestones and car tracks, washboardy gravel and weather-pocked macadam, country lane and city street. You even feel it on boulevards, which grow still smoother when you travel them in a Buick—especially when it has Dynaflow Drive*.

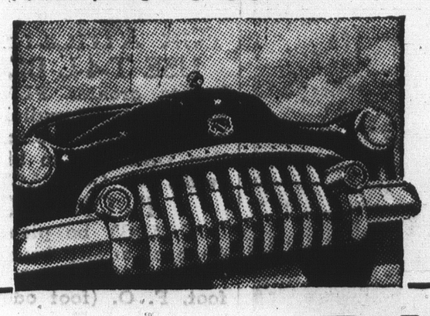
So we would like you to try a ride that is truly "unruffled." Free of harshness—undisturbed by jounce and jitter—level—steady-going—smooth.

Just ask any Buick dealer for a chance to try out any Buick. You'll find it "the ride of a lifetime"—and the buy of a lifetime too!

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

FOUR-WAY FORERONT

This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.



Only Buick has Dynaflow— and with it goes!

HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

NEW PITCHER TO FACE FOLSOM THERE SUNDAY

Manager Steve Pelayo of the Nevada City Athletics, announced that Cal Fisher of Grass Valley will be the starting pitcher Sunday afternoon as the Athletics face the giant killers of the Placer-Nevada league.

Pelayo added it will enable him to place sparkplug Jake Goldsberry in his normal shortstop position immeasurably increasing defensive strength of the team.

Ainsley Fouyer, who is playing hustling baseball this year will catch, Pelayo said. Dependable Gagliardi will be at third and Ed Wojack probably will start at second. Ralph Childers who refound his batting eye last Sunday will probably hold down the initial sack.

Long ball hitter Paul Stack, Loping Stan Jones and Commissioner Marv Haddy will patrol the pastureland, Pelayo said.

Folsom has already knocked off the two powerhouses of the league—Roseville and Placerville and without a doubt the two teams wish Folsom had remained out of play this year. Folsom had asked for a one-year leave of absence from the league during the spring but was reinstated when the town got behind the baseball enthusiasts and supported an entry.

The team will leave from Eddie's place at 11 a.m., according to Pelayo.

MICKEY KING'S MAROONS WHIP ATHLETICS 13-8

A goodly crowd of rooters appeared at Pioneer park Sunday afternoon for an exhibition game of baseball between the Nevada City Athletics of the Placer-Nevada league and the Auburn Maroons of the Foothill league under the sponsorship of Mickey King. The crowd was treated to a warm sunny afternoon that changed to cold and wind before the three hours and 16 minute game was over.

The Athletics were cold and lifeless throughout most of the game and appeared more like a collection of fence posts instead of a team of baseball players. Only Ed Wojack, Art Gagliardi and Ainsley Fouyer played with any appearance of pep. Jake Goldsberry, sparkplug of the team, was away in Nevada getting himself hitched to Mrs. Lois LeDuc, city clerk of Grass Valley.

Lynn Roath, starting on the mound whiffed Swisley the first man to face him for an auspicious start, but Banderas, the second man to face Roath, combed him for a triple, and scored a second later when Paul Stack at shortstop, made the first of five local bobbles.

Roath struck out 10 of Mickey Kings' boys in the seven innings he toiled but in between strikeouts he dished out several pickings getting to him for 12 hits.

The Maroons had two big innings, the third and the seventh, scoring 10 of their runs. Six of them came in the third with Jim Pree, Maroon pitcher clearing the bases with a booming triple.

Sousa doubled to add a run for the Maroons in the fourth.

Roath started his final frame auspiciously enough striking out the first man for his tenth whiff.

Munoz worked him for a free trip to first, Pree singled and Swisley tripled for what the spectators sensed was the icing blow. Swisley scored on a wild pitch. James and Daniels singled, and Roath immediately walked one batter and hit another to force in another run. Manager Pelayo relieved Roath sending Ed Wojack into the box. Wojack yielded two hits and one run the rest of the game.

Wojack, surprise of the game, blasted out a triple to open the home stand of the third inning and Jones skied him home. to put the Athletics into a 1-1 tie.

Wojack tripled again to open the fourth inning but three futile batters failed to push him home.

The Athletics picked up a run in the sixth after Gagliardi singled and reached second on a wild pitch. Ains Fouyer singled him in to score.

Roath singled in the seventh and Jones took one on the arm. Ralph Childers, who found his batting eye Sunday lashed Roath in with a single to right field and Jones scored on another wild pitch.

The Athletics threatened a rally in the ninth inning and scored four runs before the Maroons put out the fire to end the game in their favor 13-8.

Jones took one again to open the final inning, Ralph Childers singled and Hollis Hill walked to load the bases. Gagliardi singled two of them home. Stack walked to reload the bases. Hill scored on a wild pitch. Fouyer flied to left field to score Gagliardi for the final run of the game. Bryant walked. Wojack struck out and Pelayo, pinch-hitting for Roath, forced Stack at third base to end the game.

AUBURN WHIPS LOCAL HORSEHIDERS UNDER LIGHTS FRIDAY NIGHT

The Auburn Cubs whipped the Nevada City Athletics Friday in Auburn under the lights by a score of 10-3 in a practice game.

Manager Steve Pelayo borrowed a couple players from his former team, Grass Valley Braves, for pitching chores. Bob Capps and Tom Hooper of the Braves each pitched three innings.

Lynn Roath started on the hill for the Athletics and turned the throwing chores over to Capps after three innings with a 4-3 deficit. When Capps turned the task over to Hooper after three innings of pitching the score was tied at 6-6.

A four-run barrage off Hooper put the game on ice for the Auburn Cubs.

Bob Keskeys pitched the entire game for the Cubs.

Paul Stack drove a ball over the center field fence with one aboard in the third inning for the big blow of the Athletics.

The Cubs had defeated Nevada City here the previous Sunday in a league game 8-3.

YELLOWJACKETS WALLOP RENO BASEBALL TEAM

The Yellowjackets baseball team of Nevada City high school bounced back from a 19-1 lacing at the hands of San Juan high school last week to turn the tables on the touring Reno high school baseball team 17-5 Saturday morning in Pioneer park.

Atkins started on the mound for the high school boys, pitching seven innings, yielding six hits and fanning eight. Dick Penrose hurled the last two innings, and struck out five and gave up no hits.

In the game with San Juan Penrose hit a triple in the first inning to drive Moody home with the local team's only run of the game. Young Camilli, son of the big league star of recent years, had the Yellowjackets under his thumb the rest of the afternoon, fanning 15 of the 20 men who had official times at bat.

The Spartans rapped Cartoscelli, on the mound for Nevada City, far and often for 20 hits.

Penrose got two triples for the only extra base hits of the Reno merry-go-round.

Marysville high school is scheduled to play here this afternoon at 3:30 p.m., but the game may have to be postponed because of wet grounds if not for snow.

Ed Frantz, baseball coach of the local high school, said a practice game with Oroville is scheduled for Pioneer park Tuesday and last week's postponed game with Placer high school will be played Wednesday afternoon at the Pioneer park diamond. All games are set for 3:30 p.m.
